IN LUZON LAND

C. S. Bradford Now a Realty Dealer of Manila.

PASSENGER OF THE SHERIDAN

Observations of a Newspaper Man. Great industrial possibilities - Rebels - General's.

C. S. Bradford, at one time city editor of this paper and later proprietor of the Hilo Tribune, is in Honolulu en route to Manila, where his business interests now lie. Mr. Bradford is one of the goodly number of civilian passengers on the U. S. A. transport Sheridan, the whole list of which sees a royal funeral and a Fourth of July celebration in Honolulu. Before leaving these Islands Mr. Bradford negotiated a number of large land deals on Hawaii and at different times in the States had to do with the business. He has organized a company and has established offices in Manila. Mr. Bradford went at the matter to master it thoroughly, employing American, Spanish and Tagalo lawyers and land specialists to give him courses in the title systems. These he now understands well and explains lucidly. He followed the American army as far out of Manila as it went and took observations on the country at close range. He had the opportunity to meet men from the other islands as well as from all the districts of Luzon and with careful study has gained much knowledge of the resources of the country. He is very enthusiastic over the future of a very large portion of the group and especially over the possibilities of money making in land dealing, cane growing and hemp culture. Mr. Bradford says that the most fertile land imaginable can now be secured at low figures and there is any amount of territory that will, as time goes on, be available for agricultural development on a large scale. General business is good, but in one or two lines is rather overdone. Mr. Bradford's company has taken over one of the daily papers of the place as side issue. They are reaching out for those desirable lands secured by the men who get in on the ground floor. The eminent specialists sent out by the United States report that there can be found coal and gold on every island of the group. There is great profit in hemp, indigo and many other things to which little or no attention is paid during the revolution.

"I never saw, neither do I expect to ever see so many dead men and so much blood as in the trenches and around some of the block houses. You remember reading of the company cook who deserted from one of the volunteer companies and became a lieutenant in the insurgent army. Well, it is an actual fact that there were twenty-seven dead bodies on top of his when they reached his corpse. After every engagement the dead would lie in rows and piles in the Filipino trenches. The Americans impressed Chinese into service everywhere to bury the dead insurgents. The constant firing by our boys made you sick of the sound. The small arms were going all the time and are at it yet. Then whenever there is action near the water the ships open up with heavy guns of all sizes. The Filipinos had an advantage for a long time with their smokeless powder and often they fight from the bamboo jungles with a yell. Why the American volunteer soldier is the marvel of the century. When the niggers set the ball rolling it was 9 o'clock at night. Our fellows stood up to it all through the night without so much as a cup of coffee, fighting like demons down to the last round of ammunition and not getting a bite to eat or any rest till 4 the next afternoon. I helped impress rice and ship and deliver ammunition and watched the fighting in the dark and rain till towards morning. Then I had a chance to go out to the Olympia with one of the officers and the sight from the deck of that peerless ship was grand. There was a blaze of fire from five miles of rifles and the field pieces were doing good work, while the ships were finding the insurgent lines. The fight was a warm one at close range till 7 o'clock in the morning. The Chinese laborers are always brave fellows. The rebels are improving in marksmanship and for three months have been picking off too much of a percentage of American officers.

"How long will it last? Till they send the number of men Gen. Lawton said would be needed—100,000—or more. Then there are two alternatives. One is to ship out all the Spanish priests instead of hobnobbing with them. The other is to catch and kill Aguinaldo. For the New York World I had an interview with Aguinaldo. It was by interpreter. Among other things he said the Filipinos had for centuries looked upon the Spanish priests as their direct oppressors and wanted priests of their own. The most offensive thing the Americans have done is to be familiar with the church people at Manila. I did not think much of the famous Aguinaldo. He looks insignificant. The feature of his surroundings is a great body guard. When I saw him at his capital he had in waiting all the time a special train to carry him away in case of danger. He now keeps in the background all the time. You ask a native what he means when he says he is fighting for independence or a republic and he will shrug his shoulders and mention the name of Aguinaldo. The little fellow has a great influence over the people. He tolerates no rival. He had a chief lieutenant named Luna and accomplished the assassination of that man. He has another prominent man who is likely to go the same route. This is a boy of 19, Gen. Pilar del Rio. Rio is a fine soldier. If Aguinaldo were out of the way the revolution would subside immediately. The Spaniards had a hard time with the natives before the Americans came. I don't think a Spaniard had been ten miles from Manila for three years and the Spaniards have never been in the back country. As a matter of fact Spain has had control of only two ports in the whole group.

"Lawton is the king-pin of the soldiers out there. If they give him garrison force he will wind the thing up in short order. Lawton is a remarkable commander and the European critics out there declare he is one of the greatest field soldiers the world has ever known. Why, he knew the country like an old scout before he had been there three days and the way he kept the rebels on the run made them think the end of the world was coming. In my judgment MacArthur is the next best commander. Fred Funston has a great reputation as a fighter and he has earned it by grand dash and bravery. Funston is a leader and is absolutely fearless."

Mr. Bradford says that Tommy Evans and Whaley are doing very well in Manila. L. M. Johnson is in business at Hilo. Louis McGrew is still in Manila. Bob Gardner was for a time in the saloon business. Harry Turtton was seriously wounded, but has recovered. Sam Widdifield was with Maj. Bell in Manila for several months, but went to Negros with the battalion of the First California sent to that island. Chas. Pleasants, the Pasadena man who enlisted here with the Tenth Pennsylvania, was invalided home a few months ago.

Mr. Bradford has interested Louisiana and other capitalists in his land company and expects to do well.

EDWARD DOWSETT.

Death of a Native Son Eigh in the Esteem of All.

Edward Dowsett died at the family residence, Palama, at 8:20 o'clock last evening. The immediate cause of death was fever, with which he had been prostrated for the last several days.

Edward Dowsett was 35 years of age at the time of his death, having been born in Honolulu March 31st, 1864. His father, James I. Dowsett, died on June 14th of last year.

"Ned" Dowsett, as he has always been known to his friends, was one of Hawaii's favorite sons. Ever cordial, courteous and gentlemanly, he was liked by all who knew him. Since his father's death up to a short time ago he has spent his time in looking after the affairs of the estate. He had received his early education here and completed it abroad. About three months ago he was taken ill and was compelled to give up the business affairs which he was conducting. He was a member of the Pacific club, where he was always most popular on account of his genial, sunny disposition.

At the time of his death he was surrounded by members of the family, of which three brothers and seven sisters survive him. Dr. Humphris was the physician. The funeral will probably be held tomorrow.

Island Wireless Telegraphy.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 19.—The Government of Trinidad has decided to adopt the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy for communication with the dependency of Tobago. Tobago is an island in the Windward group of the British West Indies, thirty-two miles long by twelve wide, twenty-four miles northeast of Trinidad. It was ceded to Great Britain by France in 1763.

This gives further substance to the plan of F. J. Cross for the establishment of wireless telegraphic communication between the islands of this group.

AND STILL THEY COME.

An immense shipment of dry goods has just been received by L. B. Kerr and are in shape now and ready for inspection. All are cordially invited.

THIS A BUSY DAY

Fourth of July is to be Fully Observed.

LONG LIST OF EVENTS

Town in Gala Attire—Decorations Everywhere—Process on and Literary Exercises.

National salutes at sunrise. Parade at 9 a. m. Literary exercises in the Opera House at 11 a. m. National salutes at noon. Sports at Makiki Base Ball Grounds begin at 1:30 p. m. Cricket at 1:30 p. m. Base Ball game at 3:30 p. m. National salute at sunset. Fireworks at 7:30 p. m. in the Executive Building grounds. Ball in the Drill Shed at 9 p. m.

Honolulu glitters in her gala attire in commemoration of the nation's natal day. On every hand, from flagstaff and arch and balcony flies the Red, White and Blue. Places of business have vied with each other in the elegance of their decorations. There is hardly a store in the business portion of the city but what has at least a piece of bunting or a flag. At almost every place where the flag flutters is seen the portrait of some one of the famous men of the United States. That of Admiral Dewey is most often seen, with Washington next.

The Executive building will be a blaze of light this evening. Through-out yesterday men were stringing the electric light globes over the makai side. At the cornice will be a large shield of red, white and blue lights. Old Glory will fly from all the staffs.

The drill shed is a perfect beauty maze. Upon entering a person would not realize that he was in the old armory, so great has been the transformation. Above and on every side, the red white and blue is draped in graceful folds and elegant designs. A balcony which has been built on each side is hidden under bunting. Streamers starting from a circle of the colors arranged in the center of the ceiling run in all directions. Above the entrance is an eagle, the special design of Artist King. Today yards and yards of green will be added to complete the scene. The decorations have been put up under the direction of G. W. R. King, and he has proved himself an artist.

The arch crossing Fort from the Criterion to the Pantheon loomed up splendidly last night when the electric lights scattered about it were turned on. During the day Jim Dodd and Charles McCarty assumed personal direction and great improvement was made.

The other arch put up by Lovejoy & Co. and Peacock & Co., at King and Nuuanu streets, also made a good appearance. A party of teachers, however studied long over the Latin inscriptions that are emblazoned upon the Ewa side.

The Progress block was decked out with long streamers of bunting stretching from the roof to the top of the first floor. The Orpheum presented an artistic appearance. Over the entrance there was a design of flags, and in the hallway there are long streamers of bunting.

The Central Fire Station showed the work of artistic hands. The front balcony was decorated with flags and bunting. The fire engines and hose carts inside were hidden under their gorgeous finery.

The Metropolitan Meat Co. has a neat design consisting of a half circle of bunting surmounted with a shield and flags. Ehlers' has a neat window display that shows up with full effect at night. There are a number of other pretty windows, among which may be mentioned that of the Bergstrom Music

Co., in which the implements of war are stacked under a canopy of flags.

Today's celebration will begin with the forming of the parade at 8:30 this morning. The line of march will be as follows:

The procession will form at Richards and Hotel streets, and move down Richards to Merchant, to Nuuanu, to King, to Fort, to Vineyard, to Emma, to Alakea, to King, thence along King street past the reviewing stand at the entrance to the Executive grounds, beyond which the procession will be dismissed.

There will be four bands in the procession, which ought to make things lively. The official floats have been completed and are artistic. Some of the unofficial creations will probably cause surprise. The following large list of prizes has been offered:
